

St'ART

An introduction

St'ART main idea came up during the job shadowing week in Bilbao in October 2017, where Italian and Spanish teachers met up.

On that occasion we analysed the city's history and particularly the impact the Guggenheim Museum had on the city: twenty years ago, Bilbao was scarred by acts of terrorism and failing industry. The city decided to gamble on contemporary art and architecture.

Bilbao was saved and showed the world the transformative effect of art.

St'ART became true and now we are partners!

St'ART - the word we chose as the title of our project, brings along ideas of dynamism,
motivation, departure,
enthusiasm and, obviously, art

Through this project we intend to involve students and teachers in looking into their cultural heritage and realities and in trying to find possible solutions to recover their cities through ART, or simply in trying to sensitise the community.

Our schools are essential parts in this idea of city. They are reservoir of emotional power, energy and ideas and participate in the growth of their communities by developing a sense of belonging.
